

I Had to Knit a Beetroot?!

Don't even ask...I think it's because I bought a bunch of beets that day and the deep plum against the green leaf was so beautiful I went straight to my wool stash.

I used a sparkling lurex purple colour for the body of the beetroot, then did a stem in purple wool and used a green varigated mohair for the leaf. Then I made a simple hat using a silvery-grey Noro yarn.

The biggest challenge was getting my son to wear it.

To get the pattern for this sign up to the newsletter.