

A Garden to Inspire a Hat

I live in a garden that taught me how to make a hat...my first one!

It got me thinking, what if I tie the colours together to make a colour way?

And soon enough I ended up with this.

I made a simple beret of pinks, pale lavenders, white and greens.
Instead of a pom-pom I knitted a pink rose with stem and green leaf and swewed to on the top to bob and dance around.

I felted it all in my washing machine. And here it is...if you'd like the pattern just sign up to the free newsletter.
