

Blankets out of socks?

Well, Kind of...I brought one of those new Addi Express tube knitters. Some people call them sock knitters. It also does 18 stitch wide straight knitting. While it wasn't the answer to my prayers (a small, light, portable and easy to use knitting machine that can be adjusted) it's amazing what you can do with a simple tubel format and in just a few minutes!

This project was a small pram or stroller blanket. I used alternating light and dark shades of gray with varying colourbursts in the centre.

I then stitched them up to make a blanket.

Here is a picture of the Addi Express.

Here is the finished blanket.